Final Release of Homes!

FRI, 28 JAN 2011 18:05:13 +0000

Posted in General

Tomorrow is a big day.

On Saturday, January 29th we will release the FINAL homes at this award-winning community. * Starting tomorrow, 6 brand new homes will be available to six new lucky soon-to-be homeowners.

The good news? All of these homes feature fenced backyards. The great news? Move in by March 18th! The best news? These brand new homes start in the low $300,000's.

* Not to put another feather in our cap... but we're proud to announce that the Canadian Home Builder's Association gave a nod to Time at Walnut Grove with a finalist award for Best New Attached Community of the Year. We think we have a shot at the big time (the gold award) - we'll know for sure after the awards ceremony on February 26th.

Le Grande Opening!

MON, 18 JAN 2010 14:33:56 +0000
Posted in General

"Wowee Wow!"

- Christopher Walken (as heard on SNL)

"Wowza!"

- Robin (of Batman fame)

"Wowzers!"

- Archie (or Jughead)

Those are just some of the things that people have been saying about Time at Walnut Grove. What's all the excitement about, you ask? Well it's our Grand Opening of course, and the debut of two new showhomes that are sure to impress!

And you don't have to be a B-list celebrity or obscure fictional character, to check them out. All you have to do is come to our Grand Opening, Saturday January 23rd at 12 noon.

While we can't show any photos of them yet (we wouldn't want to spoil the surprise), this Saturday you will be able to SEE, HEAR, TOUCH, SMELL and TASTE these showhomes for yourself!

Need directions?

In the meantime, check out the latest issue of the New Home Buyer's Guide where you'll find Time on the cover! Click here to view to the article.

Walnut Grove: A great place to be a kid, raise a dog, and live your life.

This is the kind of neighbourhood people either stay in, move back to, or wish they could. Take Dylan and Ashley, for example. They grew up in Walnut Grove. Then, thirsty for a taste of big city living, they both moved to Vancouver after graduation. Now they're ecstatic that they can afford to buy a new home in their hometown, and they can't wait to move back. It's a great place to raise a dog (and eventually a kid or two), and they're quickly discovering that it's also a pretty cool place to be twenty-something...and homeowners!

Walnut Grove is one of those perfectly scaled places: small, without being claustrophobic. Quiet, but unforgettable. Fresh out of a storybook, yet with the authenticity of an established community that has evolved naturally. You'll find almost everything your family needs within Walnut Grove itself (excellent schools, shops, and a fabulous community centre with a gorgeous pool and gym), but anything else you might want is mere minutes away in Langley. It's just down the road from historic Fort Langley's upscale boutiques, a quick and easy commute to Vancouver's urban centre, and a smooth trip back home again. Public transit makes getting around a breeze.

The people who already live here say it's one of the best places anywhere. The people who are just visiting tend to look around with that familiar question in their eyes: how can we get some of this?

The answer is Time.

Green Space. Storage Space. Family Space. Personal Space. More Space.

Kyle, Jessica and Liam thought their compact little condo would work for another year or two. But then again, they didn't expect the family to grow quite so soon. Surprise! With the news that Emma was on the way, Jessica got down to some serious online shopping for a new home.

When she found Time, Kyle thought it was too good to be true. "Three bedrooms AND a bonus room? A double garage AND a driveway? A patio, a backyard AND next to a park? All that in Walnut Grove, AND we can afford it?"

Jessica had to remind him that she comes from a long line of women with legendary shopping savvy. He said in that case could she please start looking for a good deal on the mother of all barbecues, because he has big plans for that big patio...

Kyle loves the bonus room that could be either a woodworking studio or a bike shop. Liam is excited about going on the swings, running after squirrels, and playing with Time's other kids. He giggles when the grass tickles his bare toes in his own backyard. Barb gets a kick out of him and laughs every time she hears him; she thinks it's great that there are so many young families at Time—and even better that she doesn't have to wipe a single nose or take anyone to the potty.

When Ashley takes Ralph for a run, they often meet up with Jess and Liam (who shrieks with joy as Ralph's puppy tongue licks the peanut butter off his face). Liam's funny little voice makes Ashley's clock tick louder. Maybe it's time to get another dog...

As for Jessica, she looks forward to pushing a stroller along the walking the trails, and loves the fact that there are three play areas to entertain kids of varying ages. For a long time she's been dreaming about being able to give her kids the kind of childhood she had: trees, bicycle-riding, a wading pool in the backyard, barbecues on summer evenings. But most of all she can't wait to stretch out and enjoy the luxury of all that space to call her own.

Walnut Grove, where your story unfolds.

At the heart of this story is Walnut Grove, a community much-loved by the people who live there and much-envied by everyone else.

Time is just the most recent chapter in ParkLane's epic story.

For over 30 years, we've been building communities that stand out from the crowd. We build homes for real people. People like Kyle and Jessica, Barb and John, Dylan and Ashley. And for their kids, grandchildren, dogs, cats and parakeets. For their bikes, their home offices, and their camping gear. For their lifestyles and everything that means. We build each home as if it was our own, choosing the best locations available, and designing homes that make the smartest use of space.

Barb fell head over heels for ParkLane when she saw the place her friends bought at Bedford Landing. "The craftsmanship and attention to detail were like nothing I'd ever seen in houses being built these days. I phoned John from the car and told him we'd better start looking for our own ParkLane home. Pronto."

It's because of the enthusiasm of clients like Barb (as well as Kyle, Jessica, Dylan and Ashley) that ParkLane has become one of the most respected and trusted builders in western Canada, winning over 250 awards for building excellence. It's how the ParkLane name became synonymous with quality, assurance, enduring value and happy homeowners.

Looking for a home? Jenny wrote the book...or the blog. in this case.

We couldn't tell the story of Time without introducing you to Jenny Wun. Jenny's official capacity is Time's Sales Manager, but she's really so much more than that. She's kind of a matchmaker, because she helps people—all kinds of people—find new homes that are ideal for them. To date, she's matched more than 1500 families with their happily-ever-after homes. It's what she loves to do, what she lives to do, and she does it really well. Call Jenny now if you think Time might be the place for you.

What makes Jenny different? She listens to you. Plus, she'll actually hear what you say, and she cares about you getting what you want. No hard sell. No pressure. Just sit down with her over coffee and she'll answer all your questions.

As for what Jenny wants, well, she wants you to be completely satisfied with your new home. She's well-informed about trends and market conditions, so she can help you make the right decision for you and your family. Tell her about your wish list, and let her tell you why Time is the right place for your story to unfold. She'll be happy to show you around Walnut Grove, introduce you to Time, and tell you why she loves this community. (With so much to love, this could take a while, but she'll condense it into a nutshell for you.)
