An Accessible Location

Explore Coquitlam in Burke Mountain, where you can encounter gorgeous viewpoints with the natural forested world in your backyard – perfect for your daily walk with the dog or your running regimen.

The bustling Coquitlam Centre, an 11-minute drive away, is open daily, with ample shops and services to meet your family's everyday needs, including a T&T Supermarket, London Drugs, Walmart, Best Buy and so much more. And if that's not enough, connect with the rest of the Lower Mainland via the convenient West Coast Express or the Lincoln and Coquitlam Central SkyTrain stations.

The City of Coquitlam is planning many exciting changes to the parks and trails throughout Burke Mountain as more residents set their roots in the community. Across the street from Kentwell, the 3.5-acre Riley Park is looking to incorporate more picnic areas, safe play structures and additional pathways catered to all ages. The nearby Sheffield and Fremont parks will have extensive improvements and expansion to support the anticipated new schools, and a future community centre will be located minutes from your front door. For more information on the parks and recreation development, please visit www.coquitlam.ca.

With these plans for this mountainside community, it's no wonder that Burke Mountain is attracting more growing families and professionals from throughout the Lower Mainland.
